

E O G

The Executive Office Group

THE OFFICE IS YOUR HOME one third of your life. It's also your castle. And architect George Nelson has designed furniture to make your "home" a pleasanter, more efficient environment...make your "castle" a more impressive setting. In this collection you will find ample, adequate and efficient provision for the five basic factors of business activity: comfortable seating, broad clear work areas, well-organized storage within sight or within reach, conference space and room for a moment of relaxation during a busy day. This is a complete, integrated office, not simply a group of desks and chairs. Recommended by Architects, and Interior Designers. Selected dealers can show you Herman Miller's Executive Office Group.
